Man.

"Man" is the title of a human being, whether the human being is male or female. The first distinction between the sexes among our branch of the human family is of comparatively recent date, arising with the Anglo-Saxons in the time when our ancestresses had ceased to make fighting a part of their business. As our foremothers gradually left fighting chiefly to our forefathers and devoted themselves almost wholly to arts, sciences and industries, language recorded the fact in the rise of two phrases—namely, "waepned man" and "wifman," or, in other words, "fighting man" and "industrious man." Thus we find good old Anglo-Saxon precedent for calling a female man of today congressman at large.

Male man's gradual appropriation of the generic title of a human being marks a retrogression in Anglo-Saxon society through which the male came to the blunder of considering himself the unit of the race, while poor female man was contemptuously relegated to the legal position of a mere cipher—utterly valueless unless attached to a male man. As we are now again returning to the native intelligence of the Anglo-Saxon race, we may expect to see the word "man" more and more frequently used in referring to the female man. She has fully as much right to it as male man.—Boston Transcript.

A Fatal Mexican Superstition.

The poor and ignorant class of Mexicans have an uncanny religious superstition about smallpox. On a recent visit to the interior of Mexico I saw mothers carrying around in their arms babies whose little bodies were almost eaten up by smallpox. I was of course shocked at the frightful spectacle, and even offered one deluded mother money if she would take her terribly afflicted child home and call in a physician to attend it. But she refused my proffer with scorn and began to croon some weird incantation as she tenderly caressed the little half clad sufferer in her arms.

I afterward learned that the ignorant class of Mexicans consider an outbreak of the red pest in their miserable hovels a visitation of divine wrath for some sin they have committed. So set are they in this belief that they will do nothing whatever to check the ravages of the disease, except, when it attacks their infants, to take the victims in their arms, press them closely to their breasts and pray devoutly and continuously to God to forgive them for their wickedness. Of course the smallpox runs its course after awhile, though never before claiming several members of every family as victims, but not until it does are the afflicted parents purged of their sins. —New Orleans Picayune.

A Sufficient Reason.

The admission of a stranger who had moved into the vicinity but recently into full membership in the church bothered Deacon Johnson very much. He disliked the man and felt quite convinced he was not worthy to become a member, but he could make no definite charge against him. When the church session had the man's application under consideration, the deacon protested against his admission. When pressed to give his reasons, he said, "Wal, pahson, de fac' ob de mattah is I feels dat he he's a wolf in sheep's clothing."

"Dat's a hebby chadge, Brudder Johnsing," said de parson. "Why do yo' t'ink so?"

"I dun' know, but it 'pears to me he don't bleat jest like de rest ob de flock."—New York Telegram.

Never Nonplused.

A vagrant, carrying spurious papers, was arrested by the gendarmes, who were not prepared to stand any nonsense. They asked him to produce his papers. The tramp showed them a passport which he had stolen, the bearer of which was described as having a wooden leg.

"Why, that is a false passport you have got there!" said one of the policemen. "Where is your wooden leg?"

Confusion of tramp, who was not prepared for this emergency. After a moment's hesitation he replied:

"I'll tell you, monsieur le gendarme, I never wear it when I'm traveling." —Paris Evenement.

The Real and the Ideal.

The practical wife of the long haired poet was watching him wrestle with a fine frenzy.

"How much do you get for what you are doing?" she asked after awhile.

"Oh, I don't get any money for this. I'm working for glory, my dear."

"Oh, you are?" she said curtly. "Well, you'll have to eat glory for supper, I guess," and she went out and banged the stove seven times with the rolling pin.—Detroit Free Press.

A Time Lock.

Pipkin—Positively I must go home after the next jack pot.

Potts—Wife been scolding you again?

Pipkin—Worse than that. She has had a time lock put on the street door.—New York World.

HUNGARY'S SPLENDID HORSEMEN.

Picturesquely arrayed in a white linen, wide sleeved smock or shirt, embroidered in vivid colors, in loose white zouave pantaloons, tucked into high boots and with a bunch of puztas grass and a peacock's or heron's feather in the band of his wide brimmed hat, the Magyar Csikos presents the European counterpart of the North American cowboy, of the South American gaucho and of the African Bedouin. His life is spent on the vast "puztas" or prairies of Hungary in tending the great herds of semiwild horses, the breeding of which constitutes one of the most profitable and staple features of Magyar industry.

While the summer lasts he often suffers thirst—that thirst which is one of the terrors of prairie and desert life—while his food, which he carries about with him in the little two wheeled, canvas covered cart, which is his only dwelling place, frequently gives out, and he has to wait for many days sometimes before the purveyor of the Csikos comes on his round to replenish the stock of all the scattered members of this strange brotherhood. Courageous, robust, indifferent to both extreme cold and overpowering heat, the Csikos is, as a rule, of middle height, with well cut features, a dark skin, bright and intelligent black eyes and the long pointed mustache known throughout all Europe as "la moustache Hongroise."

He wields the lasso with just as much mastery as does the gaucho, and, to my mind, surpasses both the latter and the western cowboy in horsemanship. A perfect rider, he breaks in the colts belonging to his herd without the assistance of either curb, saddle, rein, bit or whip. Simply slinging a rope halter over the young animal's head, he conquers him by the iron pressure of his muscular legs and the magical skill with which he poises his body on the back of his fretting, curveting steed. The employers of the Csikos are the emperor and the great nobles. One of the favorite pastimes of the Austrian, and especially of the Hungarian, aristocracy, is horse breeding on a most extensive scale. About four-fifths of the horses of the imperial cavalry come from Hungary, and it is estimated that with the present breeding stock that country could export from 50,000 to 60,000 horses annually.

These Hungarian horses are very strong, with great stamina, and can stand fatigue combined with short rations better than most horses bred elsewhere, while as cavalry mounts they are unsurpassed. The oldest and largest stud farm in Hungary is Mezzohegy's, which comprises 40,000 acres. It was founded as a royal stud in 1785, and here for more than a century various well established types of horses have been formed by crossing different breeds, by the effect of climatic conditions, food, etc. In Hungary alone there are in all 150 private stud farms—a very good proof indeed that the government horse breeding establishments by no means interfere with individual enterprise.—New York Tribune.

Absence of Mind.

Among the personal anecdotes told of Peter Burrowes, the celebrated barrister and one of Ireland's "worthies," is the following remarkable instance of absence of mind: A friend called upon him one morning in his dressing room and found him shaving with his face to the wall. He asked him why he chose so strange an attitude. The answer was, "To look in the glass."

"Why," said his friend, "there is no glass there."

"Bless me!" Burrowes observed, "I did not notice that before."

Ringing the bell, he called his servant and questioned him respecting his looking glass.

"Oh, sir," said the servant, "the mistress had it removed six weeks ago."

First American Suspension Bridge.

The first suspension bridge erected in America was built in the year 1801 over a small stream called Jacob's creek in Westmoreland county, in the western part of Pennsylvania, the engineer being the noted James Finley. This pioneer suspension bridge had a span of exactly 70 feet and 4 inches, and it cost the county $6,000. It was "warranted" to last 50 years. The English claim that a suspension bridge was built in that country in 1741, but it is known that Finley's effort was the first bridge of that character erected on scientific principles.—St. Louis Republic.

An Infallible Indication.

There was an intense silence around Mrs. Hashem's table while the chicken was being served. It was broken by the girl with fluffy hair, who whispered to the one with dark glasses:

"How do you know?"

"He got a piece of white meat instead of the wing and neck, as usual." —Washington Star.

Judicial Item.

Judge—The court provides that. I give you 10 days.—Texas Siftings.

Why He Bought.

A gentleman in business in Washington happened to have something to transact with the rather youthful chief of a division and was treated to a display of almost regal arrogance by the official. The poor, humble civilian was telling some friends about his experience.

"If he had been the Akhood of Swat," he said, "and I the lowliest of his subjects, he couldn't have been more awful and mighty. He reminded me of a story I once heard about a young man who lived down in Mississippi before the war. He was not very well off in worldly goods, but made up in assumption what he lacked in solidity. A neighbor of his happened to become bankrupt and was forced to sell all his property at auction. Among his possessions was an ancient and decrepit darky, who could barely walk. He was bent and misshapen, and local gossip put him down as being over a hundred years old. The auctioneer put him up as one of the chattels when all the rest of the articles were disposed of, and the young man I spoke of bid the old creature in for a dollar. The former owner couldn't understand the fellow's reason for buying the darky and approached the auctioneer.

"'Pshaw,' answered the auctioneer, 'that's easy to tell. Jones was just dying to hear somebody call him marster.'"—Washington Star.

Phenomenal Luck.

The chat man heard a story which demonstrates the accuracy of the old adage, "It's better to be born lucky than with a silver spoon." Some six years ago a boy from the Canadian side of the lake came to Rochester to reside. He secured a position in a dry goods store and worked faithfully for two years. The boy had ambition, and so he left the city and located in New York. He continued to work as a dry goods clerk, but while so doing made a large number of friends, some of them who knew the drift of the Stock Exchange. He got a tip one day, and by a little transaction cleared $10,000. He speculated again and won $36,000. He pursued the market and in the course of a year had made in actual profit something over $120,000. He then branched out and invested in various enterprises, and it seemed that everything he touched turned into gold. In the four years that he has operated he has been able to net something like $750,000. He has a magnificent mansion on Riverside, New York. He drives a team of spanking horses and lives like a prince. The gentleman referred to is only 27 years old now.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Gravitation Defied.

While it is usually conceded that puns belong to "the lowest order of wit" there have been puns which can hardly be classified in this way. One of these is said to have been made by Jeffrey Keller, an Irish lawyer who was more noted for his wit than for eminence in his chosen profession.

A lawyer of the name of Mayne, who was a highly respected but decidedly heavy person, had risen to a judgeship, while Keller, who had entered on his legal career at about the same time with Mayne, was still much in want of clients and fees.

He was in a courtroom one day when Mayne was solemnly presiding, and he turned to a friend who sat beside him and plucked at his sleeve.

"See there!" he whispered. "There sits Mayne, risen by his gravity, and here sits Keller, sunk by his levity. What would Sir Isaac Newton say to that, I'd like to know?"—Youth's Companion.

Your Own Body.

Think deliberately of the house you live in—your body. Make up your mind not to abuse it. Eat nothing that will hurt it; wear nothing that distorts or pains it. Do not overload it with victuals or drink or work. Give yourself regular and abundant sleep. Keep your body warmly clad. At the first signal of danger from any of the thousand enemies that surround you defend yourself.

Do not take cold; guard yourself against it; if you feel the first symptoms, give yourself heroic treatment. Get into a fine glow of heat by exercise. This is the only body you will ever have in this world. A large share of pleasure and pain of life will come through the use you make of it. Study deeply and diligently the structure of it, the laws that should govern it, the pains and penalties that will surely follow a violation of every law of life or health.—New York Dispatch.

Superstition In Calcutta.

The grossest superstition exists in Calcutta. Recently an Indian gentleman, residing in Jaun Bazar street, had a live goat flung down from his two storied house in accordance with the directions of a so called magician, who was called in to cast out a devil with which a son was supposed to be possessed. The poor brute was first fed with a few bamboo leaves over which the wizard mumbled some mantras, and it was then pushed over the terrace. The animal was killed, and its flesh was distributed to the poor.—Indianapolis News.

THE State tax for this year has been fixed at 49.3 cents,

THE proposed wine syndicate has gone all to pieces. There was evidently no money to back it up, although jaw-bone was not lacking.

SANTA ROSA voted $30,000 last Wednesday for additional school facilities. Out of a total vote of 541 only 99 were recorded against the proposition.

GENERAL STONEMAN, a noted Union soldier of the Civil War and ex-Governor of California, died at the home of his sister in Buffalo, New York, last Wednesday.

THERE is urgent demand for reform in the matter of laws in this State having reference to matrimony, remarks the San Jose Mercury. Marriage is, and by right ought to be, something more than a civil contract, and is a relation that should not be too lightly esteemed or carelessly entered into. The contract law allows mere children to assume obligations for which they are not prepared, and places within their reach a method by which they may ruin their own lives and blight the happiness of parents and friends. Anything which tends to lessen the sanctity of the marriage relation tends to undermine the foundation of morality and society, and to make marriage an obligation as lightly to be assumed as a contract to cut cord wood or sell peanuts certainly has that effect. Allowing the contract law the benefit of all arguments which can properly be advanced in its advocacy, it still allows a fifteen-year-old girl to bind herself for life in a contract which is likely to be forever loathsome to her, and such a possibility should be avoided. The next Legislature should abolish the marriage contract law,

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

TUESDAY, September 4th.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular monthly session Tuesday at 11:30 A. M., Chairman Sales presiding and a full Board present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. At 12 o'clock M. the Board took a recess until 1:30 P. M.

Hon. J. A. Filcher, Secretary of the California State Board of Trade, appeared before the Supervisors for the purpose of urging the Board to affiliate Sonoma county with the body he represents. The regular order of business was suspended to give Mr. Filcher a hearing. Action in the matter was deferred.

The following bids for the construction of a bridge over McClellan Gulch were received and opened: P. D. Warwick, $999; J. O. Burkhalter, first, $750; second, $775; H. A. Richardson, first $660; second, $770.

It appearing that the bid of H. A. Richardson for $660 is the lowest, it was therefore ordered that the same be accepted, and that the said H. A. Richardson enter forthwith into a contract with the Board.

WEDNESDAY, September 5th.

The Board met at 9 A. M. Wednesday, pursuant to adjournment, Chairman Sales presiding and all members present.

The following amounts were allowed to road districts: Healdsburg, $72.54; Washington, $33; Cloverdale, $53.68; Lakeville, $224.18; Sonoma, $155.49; Penn's Grove, $149.20; Ocean, $68; Fort Ross, $21.15; Forestville, $28; Marin $6; Bloomfield, $290.30; County General Fund, $100; Petaluma, $123.30; Sebastopol. $99.70; Russian River, $136.29; Fulton, $318.15; Santa Rosa, $169.61.

The petition of W. P. Hinshaw for permission to disinter the remains of Edward Carter Hinshaw and Mary Ann Hinshaw, who died April 17th, 1861, and October 23rd, 1862, respectively, and rebury the same in the Cypress Hill Cemetery at Petaluma, was read and permission granted.

A Good Thing to Keep at Hand.

From the Troy (Kansas) Chief.

Some years ago we were subjected to severe spells of cholera morbus; and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually precede that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhœa, etc., we become scary. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house. For sale by all dealers.

TO CONTEST THE WILL.

When millionaire Wm. H. Graves died on his farm near this place a little over a year ago the relatives and friends of the deceased were astounded when it became known that he had made a will which left the bulk of his vast property to three people in Ramsgate, England, who were unknown to his relatives—that is to say, his mistress Marie Gordon and her two children, Frank M. Gordon and Daisy Gordon, aged 18 and 14 years respectively.

This will was filed for probate in the Superior Court of this county last September. In it Mr. Graves requested that a total stranger to him, ex-Mayor Alvord of San Francisco, be appointed executor and the court so appointed him.

Robt. Graves, in his petition filed in the Superior Court last week, asserts that the will and codicil are not the last will and testament of his brother William; that when William made them he was not of sound mind; was not able to dispose of his estate. He also says that William did not leave any wife or lawful issue. That the will and codicil were admitted to probate upon insufficient proof; that some of the witnesses had not sufficient knowledge of the true mental condition of testator. He asks that a citation be issued to Mr. Alvord and the legatees and devisees commanding them to appear and show why the probate of the will should not be revoked.

The other legatees under the disputed will besides Marie Gordon and her children who come in for the greater part of the estate are, W. H. Barton, Ella Barton of Fresno; Edwin Joy, residence unknown; Mary French of Los Angeles; Anna Benedict of Pleasanton; Eliza Baldwin of Mountclair, New Jersey; Hellie Taylor of New Jersey; T. B. Bishop and the California Tittle Insurance and Trust Company of San Francisco.

Ella Barton, Anna Benedict and Hellie Taylor were sisters of Graves and Edwin Joy a nephew. These, with Robt N. Graves of San Francisco and Henry Graves of New York, so it is claimed in the petition for revocation of the will, are the only heirs at law.

HE BOUGHT ON JAW-BONE.

W. C. Hill, the Fruit Man, Fails for $13,868.63.

W. C. Hill of Santa Rosa, who appeared in this valley a few months ago and bought up seventeen carloads of fruit on jaw-bone and consigned the same to points in the East, has filed a petition in the Superior Court of this county to be declared an insolvent debtor.

A number of honest, hardworking farmers of Sonoma and vicinity are sufferers by the failure, the news of which could not have startled them more than a thunderclap in a cloudless sky, as several carloads of fruit had been shipped from railway stations in this valley only a few days before the failure became known. Among those in this valley who will lose by the failure of Hill we may mention the following: B. F. Campbell, $252.42; O. B. Shaw, $606.35; Henry Seipp, $202.62; Otto Rufus, $38.50; G. S. Harris, $1.90; W. H. Hyde, $116.38; John Skinner, $87.34 and Sam Agnew, $2.86.

The entire amount of debts of the insolvent aggregate $13,868.63. The principal creditor is the National Fruit Association, to whom Hill owes $4,500. The assets are nothing.

All the creditors are cited to appear before Hon. S. K. Dougherty, Judge of the Superior Court, Santa Rosa, on October 8th, at 11 o'clock A. M., to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of the debtor.

That Jail.

The failure of the City Dads to build a Jail is being severely criticised by the law-abiding citizens of Sonoma. They say, and justly, too, that it is a disgrace to the town that when petty offenders are arrested they have to be turned loose again for want of a place to incarcerate them. There is no excuse for postponing the building of a jail. Plans and specifications for a stone building have already been adopted by the Board, several very reasonable bids have been received for erecting the same and there is plenty of money on hand to pay for the work. What is the hitch?

CITY TRUSTEES.

David Calloway Appointed a Member of the Board.

The City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening. Trustess Seipp, Schocken, Poppe and Bulotti and Clerk Breitenbach were present.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the Board got down to business.

Marshal Robin was instructed to notify all those property-owners through whose premises are maintained open ditches to properly clean out and disinfect the same.

On motion of Trustee Poppe the proposition to build a City Jail was laid over until the next meeting.

The Board then proceeded to elect a Trustee in place of John Ludeman, resigned. David Calloway was nominated and he was elected by a unanimous vote of the Board.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

F. Breitenbach, City Assessor, $50; J. E. Robin, Marshal, $16.30; A. W. Adler, carpenter work, $3.50; John Kerns, labor, $4.00; George Spanning, cleaning fire apparatus, $7.50; Antonio Caminata, labor, $19.00.

The Board then adjourned.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Two Ladies Killed—Narrow Escape of a Former Resident of Sonoma.

A dispatch from Point Arena says that a camping party composed of Frank Small, formerly of this place, W. H. Higginson, second officer of the steamer Oakland, his wife and daughter, Wm. Spehn, wife and two children, Ed. Reed and Jos. B. Wing of San Francisco, who were out camping near that place, met with an appalling accident. They had pitched their tents under a large redwood tree and at one o'clock last Tuesday morning the tree suddenly fell across both tents. Mrs. Higginson and Sadie Higginson were instantly killed and Spohn and Reed each had a leg broken. Small and the others had a narrow escape, the tree barely missing them. Frank Small is a brother of Jos. and Jas. Small of this place.

The High School.

The Board of Trustees of the Union High School met last Monday for the purpose of petitioning the Board of Supervisors to levy a tax on the districts comprising the union to maintain the school for the ensuing year.

It is also the intention of the High School Trustees to call an election at no distant day at which will be submitted a proposition to vote a tax to purchase a lot and erect thereon a school building. We have no doubt if the proposition is submitted to the people it will be carried by a handsome majority, provided the money to be raised is to be applied to a new and suitable building and not toward the purchase of that old concern on Broadway now used for High School purposes, which aside from being out-of-the-way and utterly unsuitable, also promises a nice fat commission to the person who can insist the white elephant on the taxpayers. Gentlemen of the Board, on behalf of the people interested in maintaining our High School, we would suggest in submitting the tax proposition you make this matter very plain to them, to the end that it may carry.

GLEN ELLEN.

C. H. Bruning has gone quite extensively into the poultry business.

W. H. Pool, the Democratic candidate for Auditor and Recorder, was in town last Wednesday.

Mrs. J. M. Zane returned home last Wednesday from Santa Cruz where she had spent several weeks visiting relatives.

A number of Republican speakers will be in town on September 22nd and the issues before the people will be thoroughly discussed.

The necessary lumber has been hauled to the approaches of the iron bridge and the work of erecting a railing on each side will begin at once.

A. D. Wilder, Division Superintendent, J. H. Thompson, Assistant Division Superintendent of Oakland pier and W. S. Palmer, all of the Southern Pacific Company, passed through town last Wednesday.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Vermont went Republican last Tuesday.

Logan Toombs of Healdsburg was in town Thursday.

Wm. H. Pool, Democratic candidate for Auditor and Recorder, was in town Thursday and paid this office a pleasant visit.

It is said that one of the bolters of the Republican county convention who is now out as an independent candidate contemplates withdrawing from the contest.

If you want to select the right man to vote for at the coming county election do not fail to consult the political announcements which appear in another column.

Dr. Finley of Santa Rosa, candidate for School Superintendent called at our office Wednesday. He is the nominee of the People's Party, but is making the race as an educator.

Editor Thompson of the Santa Rosa Democrat has been appointed a member of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Central Committee. The selection is a most worthy one.

Party lines in Sonoma will be less strictly drawn in the coming contest for county offices than ever before. Personal popularity and fitness for the office will have great influence on voters.

At the recent Democratic ratification meeting in Santa Rosa which was addressed by a number of the "war horses of Democracy" the name of Congressman Geary was not even mentioned, although a nominee on the ticket for re-election.

Senator John P. Jones of Nevada has joined the Populists. The change of front is most natural. His State went Populist two years ago and John P. is trimming his sails to catch the popular breeze in the Sagebush State that he may have clear sailing into the United States Senate again.

E. F. Woodward, Republican nominee for County Treasurer, was in Sonoma last Wednesday making the acquaintance of our people. Mr. Woodward is the popular Mayor of Santa Rosa, having been elected to that office last year by a handsome majority. During his stay in this place he made quite a number of friends among the people regardless of party.

J. W. Keegan, the Populist candidate for Assemblyman from this district, was in town last Tuesday. Mr. Keegan is one of Santa Rosa's most enterprising business men and is quite popular in that part of the district. He will poll a very fair vote in Sonoma Township and his Republican and Democratic opponents will have to get in and hustle to beat him down this way.

M. V. Vanderhoof, Republican candidate for Assessor of this county, was one of the strongest nominations made at the Healdsburg convention. Mr. Vanderhoof is a resident of Santa Rosa and as a deputy under ex-Sheriff Colgan made a model officer. He is both honest and capable and is in every way worthy of the support of the people regardless of party.

The saloon men of Sonoma are kicking like a bay steer in fly time because candidates for office are not "setting 'em up" as was their wont to do in the good old times before the Purity Election Law was in force. They swear by all that is holy that they have no use for an nominee who gives them the go-by, while the old soaks who are laying for a candidate say "me too."

"BILLY" POOL.

The candidate on the Democratic ticket for Auditor and Recorder, W. H. Pool, is well and favorably known throughout the county. He was born at Windsor in this county, January 4th, 1865, and received his education in the public schools in this county, completing it by graduating from Heald's Business College in San Francisco. He subsequently entered the Assessor's office as a deputy, in which capacity he served four years. For the last four years he has been chief deputy in the Recorder's office, under Gil P. Hall. In both positions he has given the most perfect satisfaction, showing himself thoroughly qualified for the duties of the positions he has occupied. In casting a ballot for Mr. Pool the voter will make no mistake and run no risk, as the efficiency of the deputy is a sufficient guarantee of the same thorough, painstaking management should he be elected as Auditor and Recorder. Mr. Pool is deservedly popular, is a married man with a young and interesting family, is a good neighbor, a trusty friend and a useful and worthy citizen in every relation of life. We confidently predict for him a rousing majority in November.—Santa Rosa Graphic.

Visitors to Sonoma on business or pleasure will find the Sonoma House as conducted by Harry Fisheer the hotel of Sonoma. *

If you want the very best of wine, liquors or cigars go to the Union Hotel, and you will be politely served by Mr. A. A. Enke. *

A bright-looking mulatto young man paraded Market street, San Francisco, one day last week seeking employment. Encircling his waist was a placard upon which in large letters was inscribed, "I wish work of any kind." He was the cynosure of all who passed by. After a few hours of patient waiting the young man with the novel advertisement was rewarded. A well-dressed elderly gentleman of benevolent appearance espied the sign and after a short conversation the trio departed for the Southern Pacific Railroad depot. The young mulatto had obtained employment from the elderly gentleman to work on his ranch near San Jose.

Borax is an excellent washing powder. The women of Belgium and Holland are noted for their snowy linen; they attain this desired result by the use of borax, a handful to ten gallons of water. Borax being a neutral salt does not injure the most delicate fabric.

"You country people make lots of funny mistakes when you come to town," said the city young man. "Yep," replied the gentle farmer, "but when we remember what a lot o' argyin' it takes to convince some city folks that gooseberries don't necessarily come from egg plants, we sorter learn ter bear up."

The scratches which so often disfigure and spoil the appearance of varnish will entirely disappear if a coarse cloth that has been well saturated with linseed oil be laid over them. This simple remedy is invaluable to those who have the care of highly polished furniture.

Black lace insertions are in great use this season in inch and two inch widths, laid flatly on the dress fabric, and not inserted as formerly.

Rincing children's garments in borax water is said to make them fireproof; that is, if the clothing catches fire it will smolder instead of making a blaze.

A few years ago no man dare ride through the streets of any Chilean city on Good Friday. Even the cars were not allowed to run. No sound of human labor was permitted to disturb the religious silence.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, SEPT. 8, 1894.

The Duchess of Marlborough.

To draw Sarah Jennings' character is no easy task. As she was when a girl, so she remained as a mother, as Queen Anne's favorite, as wife to the greatest man of his day and in old age as his widow. Neither time nor increased knowledge of the world ever changed or in any way softened her. She was essentially an unimaginative, unimpressionable woman, with no illusions about men or about events either human or divine, and without sentiment of any kind, except perhaps where her husband was concerned.

The duke's love for her was deep, pure, unselfish and passionate. All his letters, meant for no eye but hers, breathe the same lover-like devotion. They make the reader feel that from first to last his one great dread was that she might case to love him. She did love him sincerely, but in her own haughty and tigerlike fashion. There was nothing demonstrative about her affection, but such as it was she gave him her whole heart. In most of the relations of life they were both egotistical and covetous, yet their marriage was absolutely uninfluenced by mercenary considerations. Their mutual attachment was stronger even than their undoubted worldliness. — "Life of Marlborough," Wolseley.

An Estate Obtained Through a Pun.

Land transfer has lost a great deal of the simplicity which characterized the operation in the olden time. The pleasant land of Bosham, in Sussex, once belonged to the archbishop of Canterbury, but was much coveted by Earl Godwin, supporter of the last of the Saxon kings, whose treasury was unfortunately too empty to purchase it. He obtained the place by a novel system of land transfer. His lordship attended a great ceremony in the archbishop's cathedral, followed by his retainers, and, according to time honored custom, said to his grace, "Da mihi basium," meaning, "Give me the kiss of peace," only, instead of saying "basium," he ingeniously substituted the provincial pronunciation of Bosham. The archbishop gracefully replied, "Do tibi basium," which, being interpreted, is, "I give thee the kiss," which he did. But Godwin cried, "Thou hast given me Bosham," to which all his retainers cried, "Why, certainly," and the whole crew at once rode off to take possession of the pleasant Sussex territory. The archbishop could not help himself and allowed the transfer to go. The law has greatly complicated matters since then.—London Telegraph.

Misplaced Insulation.

Not long ago a passenger on an ocean steamer folded up his iron deck chair before retiring, and as the night was stormy left it in the pilothouse. The man at the wheel presently began to be aware of something wrong with the compass, and before the delinquent deck chair was pounced on the ship was half an hour out of her course. An equally well authenticated case is that of a learned professor who took his head student out testing one day. It was winter time, and as a cold wind blew through the station the head student kept on his hat while taking insulation readings. The result showed an unprecedented degree of insulation—one, in fact, greater than infinity, and the professor as well as the student was amazed and mystified. The former, however, repeated the test and obtained results much less creditable to the firm who supplied the cables, but still very good. The student had ignored the fact that the felt hat he wore was stiffened with a steel wire in the brim.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Progress of Woman.

It is one thing to get a good servant and another to keep her. A lady living on North Pennsylvania street was amazed yesterday to have a strange lady ring the bell and inquire if her servant was at home.

Upon being informed that she was out, the stranger said:

"Well, do you mind asking her to come to my house this evening? I want to see if she will come and work for me."

The mistress said very emphatically she did mind, so the stranger said: "Well, I'll just sit on the porch next door, then, and wait till she comes back. What do you pay her, please? I suppose I'll have to offer her more than she gets here."

And she sat on the porch and waited for the servant's return, and the mistress thinks it outranked any bold piracy she had ever read of.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Goat Isn't Appreciated.

The relations of the goat to mankind are in certain ways peculiar. The creature has long been subjugated, probably having come into the human family before the dawn of history. It has been almost as widely disseminated, among barbarian and civilized peoples alike, as the sheep. It readily cleaves to the household and exhibits much more intelligence than the other members of our flocks and herds. It yields good milk, the flesh is edible, though in the old animals not savory, and the hair can be made to vary in a larger measure than any of our animals which are shorn. Yet this creature has never obtained the place in relation to man to which it seems entitled.—Scribner's.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

BIG SPRING OF THE CHIPPEWAS.

Kitchi-ta-Kipi, or the big spring of the Chippewas, is really one of the wonders of Michigan, if not of the entire northern country. Kitchi-ta-Kipi is nearly circular in form and nearly 200 feet in diameter. It is 65 feet deep—a great bowl of water—clear as air and green as emerald. When the sun shines and the wind does not ripple the surface of the water, at least six distinct shades of green, varying from the lightest to the darkest, are to be seen. It is asserted that under favorable conditions all the prismatic rays are reflected.

The water is so clear that a penny or a dime or even a pin may be watched in its flight to the bottom, and once there a peculiar property of magnifying possessed by the spring makes the article look several times its real size. The grains of sand can be plainly seen at the bottom, and the places where the water boils in at the bottom look like so many small craters. There are dozens of places where the water bursts in, and they vary in size from the diameter of a dollar to three feet. In former days many dollars' worth of silver coins were thrown upon the altar of the spirit of the spring, but in these times visitors are obliged to be content with throwing pieces of tin into the great depths. Gnarled trunks of cedars project into the spring. These are draped with mosses in the most fantastic manner, all in the brightest green.

Many interesting legends are told of Kitchi-ta-Kipi. One is that there were two brave suitors for the hand of a beautiful Indian princess in a tribe located many miles from the spring. At last the dusky maiden declared her preference, and the rejected suitor, being wild with rage, planned to be revenged. When a boy, he had learned many of the mysteries of the medicine man, and so he dug a root and brewed a medicine that would produce a slow decline and death. This he succeeded in getting an attendant of the princess to give to her. The luster of her cheeks died away, they became hollow, and her voice, once clear and sweet, became husky. She lost courage and courted death, and her lover became frantic. One night when he was tossing in sorrow in his wigwam the spirit of Kitchi-ta-Kipi appeared to him.

"Take your loved one," it said, "and fly by night to yon mountain. As a firefly I will be your guide. Follow me. To the great bowl of the healing waters we will go."

The young brave did as he was directed, and the story of the flight is told in poetical language. Over hill and hollow, through swamps and across and down streams they went until their journey was ended. The princess drank of the healing waters and was cured. Finally their trail was found, and they were followed by the rival, but he was trapped. The successful suitor caught him leaning over the spring to take a drink and pushed him in. The sides are as steep as a wall, and being kept from swimming ashore the prisoner finally sank, his face green with rage. The Indians have always believed that it is the reflection of the drowned Indian's face that makes the spring so green.

Another legend is told which recites the drowning of a great green eagle in the spring, and it is said that if one has a good imagination he can see the outlines of the big bird lying with outstretched wings to this day. —Chicago Record.

Ashantee Sacrifices.

"The most savage and horrible of all the barbarous customs of the Ashantees in Africa," said Professor W. G. Steadman of Washington, "is that of celebrating the death of a king or great noble by a sacrifice of other lives. Indeed almost all of their anniversary rites are attended by a holocaust of human beings. They believe that when a king or a noble dies he must have wives and slaves in the next world, just as he had in this, and in order that these may not be wanting the simple expedient is resorted to of killing his wives and slaves and sending them after him. Rude and bloody ceremonies mark the practice of this custom, which are continued for about a week. Strange to say, numerous volunteers are always found who are not only ready but anxious to be offered up in honor of a dead king."

A Talented Listener.

Maurice was a good listener, a good talker. I should not say a good conversationist, but a sublime monologist. He was patient, too, of other monologists. "I remember," he said to me once, "I was asked to meet Sir James Mackintosh. Sir James was good enough to say he had long wished to converse with me. From the moment we came into each other's presence Sir James talked incessantly. He talked all the afternoon, very charmingly no doubt, but I had not once the opportunity of saying a word. "When we parted," said Maurice, with a gentle but humorous smile, "Sir James expressed himself delighted with my conversation and in full agreement with all my sentiments. He said he had never spent a more delightful afternoon."—Contemporary Review.

CAMPING Sweet Brier Camp

A New and Beautiful MOUNTAIN RETREAT.

In the Vicinity of

Read what the Rev. Dr. J. K. McLean, Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Oakland, says of it:

Hazel Creek, April 14, '94.

* * * I am more than pleased with it—delighted. The place seems to me to embody all available points for a camp—dry, firm soil, good water (the very best), fine chances for drainage, and scenery unsurpassable. The view of Mt. Shasta is one of the very best to be had from any point; it is visible from every part of the ground. The view of the Crags also is fine. The general environment is of the best. It is an oval-shaped amphitheater, three miles long by one-fourth to ½ of a mile wide, with receding walls two to three thousand feet in height, with lines and shades of beauty at every reach. I doubt if a better place can be found in all Northern California.
